Pregnancy care centers collect donations of baby food, clothes, diapers, and other necessary items for new moms who might not be able to afford such things for their babies. Ryan is helping out at his local pregnancy care center. The center director tells Ryan to fill three different colored boxes – one with diapers, one with baby clothes, and one with baby food – and put the boxes into three cars: a sedan, a pickup, and a minivan.

1. The red box goes in the minivan.
2. The baby food goes in the yellow box.
3. The mom who drives the sedan gets the blue box.
4. The clothes go in the minivan.
